

THE BUSINESS MEN.

SHEEP ATTACHED.

County License Collector Richardson and Constable Arbols have returned from Holcomb Creek, fifteen miles east of Little Bear Valley, where they went to collect the sheep license for several bands said to be grazing there. They found Pedro Arambel with a band of about fifteen hundred sheep and Juan Tehista with about three thousand. Both refused to pay the county license, and they were attached by Constable Arbols and placed in charge of a keeper. A test case will probably be brought soon to determine the constitutionality of the county sheep-license ordinance.
